

Erin Born Hogan

Erin received her primary training under the direction of Marguerite Phares. At age ten, she joined the Phares Theatre Ballet. During her time with PTB, Erin trained with many professional choreographers and teachers and gained an extensive background in ballet, modern, jazz and character dance. At the age of eighteen, Erin began her professional career with Ballet Iowa under the directorship of former Bolshoi Ballet dancers, Konstantin Uralsky and Irina Vassileni-Uralsky. Erin has taken several Hawkins dancers to the international ballet competition "Youth America Grand Prix" in San Francisco and New York. She is currently staying busy with teaching, private instruction, and guest work with Hawkins Classical and Contemporary Ballet company. Erin and her husband Robert are busy parents to Colin (17yrs), Haley (14yrs) and Lana (5yrs) who made her stage debut as a Tiny Mouse in our production of Cinderella.
